

MICROPOROSITY OF A BLACK EARTH

SUMMARY

Qualitative and quantitative study of microporosity of a black earth has been carried out by association of - Scanning Electron Microscopy, pF determinations and micro-BET nitrogen sorption.

Pore size distribution are related with water stored by the soil and use of this water by plants.